Forecast For Northwest England
Issued by Met Office Exeter
at 1600 on Monday 12 Jul 2021

++ Valid for broadcast between 1800 and 0600

Headline:
Showers easing, becoming warm and sunny later in the week.

This Evening and Tonight:
Any rainfall begins to slowly ease through the night, though eastern areas continue to see some patchy rain and drizzle into the early hours. A murky night, with low cloud and hill fog. Minimum temperature 13 deg C (55 deg F).

Tuesday:
Cloud continues to break up through the day, making way for sunny spells. However, the occasional shower could still be seen in the afternoon. Turning dry overnight. Maximum temperature 22 deg C (72 deg F).

Outlook for Wednesday to Friday:
Turning mostly dry with many sunny spells through this period, though slightly cloudier on Thursday, with a little drizzle possible early on in coastal areas. Gradually warming through this period.

(C) Crown Copyright 2021. Published by the Met Office.